

“Aside from the usual line-up of blue chip artists that dominate the evening sales, a few more rarified entries come in at times, as with Swiss artist Franz Gertsch’s photo realist painting, “Luciano II” from 1976, featuring the close-up view of an androgynous looking young man in seated profile, wearing a red striped jersey. It sold to Oslo dealer Ben Frija of Galleri K for a record £2,746,250/$3,344,932 (est. 1.5-2 million).”
